Hike city bond lid for streets

Stand firm on port land price

The offer remains $100 an acre. Take it or leave it but let us know in the next 30 days.

The two boards spent about half an hour in executive session Monday morning to discuss land acquisition for the first phase of the port development.

Supervisors some months ago authorized the port body to negotiate with International Paper on the $100 an acre formula but to date the harbor group hasn't been able to get anywhere with the giant paper concern.

Negotiations also were authorized Monday by the supervisors with property owners where the new county airport and an adjacent proposed industrial area are located.

Southern gets NASA support

NASA this week put its weight behind Southern Airways application to serve Mississippi Delta County airport when it is completed.

Carl F. Paul, Jr., counsel for the agency, urged the Civil Aeronautics Board to grant MTF on flights between Memphis and New Orleans.

The commercial airline plan to use the old Picoyne airport for DC-3 service until the Hancock field is ready and Martin 404s or Douglas DC-4s can come in.

Paul explained NASA currently operates three to five round-trip flights weekly with government aircraft between MTF and New Orleans International Airport and carries Bay St. Louis won the right to issue an additional half million dollar bond issue for...

...the city has out-

City Commissioner J. Cyril Glover said this week that the present administration had no idea whether or not it would need the additional financing until the present cover and water work is completed and the current damage assessed.

Mayor John A. Scalfide and Commissioner Glover and Warren Traub at a special session May 30 adopted a resolution calling on Rep. Walker J. Phillips and Sen. James Rector to introduce the local and private bill.

The bill was drafted by the state attorney-general's office and patterned after a similar measure enacted some 15 years ago for the city of Jackson.

It did not have authority to issue enough bonds to meet emergency, Glover explained.

Here's the Bay's financial situation...
The present assessed valuation is about $5.5 million. The law provides a municipality may issue full faith and credit bonds amounting to up to 10 per cent of its assessed value—$550,000 in our case.

Right now the city has outstanding $37,000 of $50,000 in bonds issued in 1959 for...

Work force cut may be in cards at GE

Although lacking official confirmation from either General Electric Co., Mississippi Test Support Dept. or National Aeronautics and Space Administration Information Department, rumor that current contract negotiations may result in a GE work force cut is persistent.

It was this would be the second space agency worker cut-back announcement in as many weeks. Last week Boeing announced reductions that will eliminate 100 personnel from a present 3,500 to 3,400 by the end of this year.

For those remaining at Michoud hope of continued employment after the current project is completed was revived when James E. Webb, NASA's top administrator, said in a broadcast last Sunday that "... we should keep Michoud in operation after the Apollo moon landing."

"We should proceed with the production line on the Saturn V and Saturn I-B boosters, and put more work in them at Michoud and the other installations in the Gulf South space complex," he said.

General Electric, NASA's contractor for plant and technical support, at Mississippi Test Facility, has a present on site personnel count of 1,700. Their operating contract negotiations are reviewed on an annual basis to tie into the federal fiscal year beginning July 1.

It is at this time that any adjustment of work force and the functions to be performed are arranged.

Echo photos tops again in state press contest

For the second straight year the Sea Coast Echo has won first place in the weeklies division of the Mississippi Press Association.

The only other local winner was the Daily Herald, first place, last advertising photo.

Part of the association's drive to promote better newspaper, the contest, judged by the faculty of the School of Journalism, University of Iowa, drew entries from newspapers all across the state.

Announced during the final week of business at the group's annual convention last week in Biloxi, the presentation marked the third time the photo contest had been won by the Echo.

School status cited

The status of work on the new city high school, additions to Waveland and Volcanic School and financing for reconstruction of Jones occupied classrooms of the Bay St. Louis Municipal School District at a speedy meeting Monday night.

Superintendent J. D. McCulloch also reported on the summer repair program and how displayed some pictures in the old Bay High which will become the system's junior high school this fall.

Eight men are now doing repairs and the National Youth Corps program will begin come 20 to 25 workers at $1.25 an hour starting next week. The federal government pays the labor for not more than 25 hours.

The State Education Finance Commission's bill to be reimbursed shortly, McCulloch reported, which will make between $45,000 and $50,000 additional available for the new room, cafeteria, library, etc., repairs at Jones. The system was allocated $32,000 for the work which money was running about this spring. The superintendent said Architect Fred Wagner has been in final plans on the first phase of the job and he expects to be given a bid date any day on the $32,000.

Payments totaling $70,407.52 plus $1,036.11 in fees to Architect Charles Proffer were approved on the new high school. That brings payments to date to $354,147.80 on the million dollar plan.

Robert L. Hamilton, board president, questioned a proposed change order for a gymnasium skylight but conversion of space allocated to the science laboratory to a classroom was approved.

The board also held the final balance due on the Waveland and Volcanic additions pending final inspection, questioning in particular the sewer line into the Jones school. The inspection date is to be arranged by the superintendent.

McCulloch reported on the faculty for the fall and the status of applications for transfer from the Jones school to other schools of the system.

remnants had been made through Charity Hospital in New Orleans and many colored residents were going there. Anyway, KBV has notified the board that the rule of non-white admissions suggests "confrontation" and asked for 15 day M-mental room report.

Dashworth commented that the present civil rights guidelines discriminate against the man who is unable to afford a private hospital room for his wife, mother or daughter. Griffin suggested the board might simply be looking for trouble and advised the board to the board.

The board informally commanded the new administrator on the revised financial format which Blackledge said could "almost be considered an audit." A number of changes in accounting procedure were reflected, including provision for accounts receivable and depreciation which had not previously been shown.

During reading of the minutes, recommendations on accounting made by the state auditors at an executive session of the board April 27 were disclosed. Ed Pettus and Robert Kennedy of the Department of the Audit met with trustees at that time.

Pettus reported they found the hospital books "in pretty fair shape with the exception of accounts receivable and the general ledger made some extra work to bring them up to date." He recommended closing the books each month and the necessity for a CAP audit at the end of each fiscal year. After lengthy discussion, the administrator, at that session, was instructed to write the attorney-general's office to determine the legality of certain procedures that might be put into effect.

Last week trustees held for discussion changing the date of their meeting until a ruling can be secured on Blackledge's recommendation for the finance committee to approve payment of discount bills. Griffin doubted this could be done but Blackledge said the current second Wednesday meeting date frequently does not enable the hospital to get discounts.

The administrator reported a federal narcotics inspector had been here a few weeks ago and was highly complimentary of the system of inventory, controls and storage of drugs.

The board decided against making any change in its schedule for EKG after checking with the Gulfport and Piquette hospitals. Hancock General charges $15 for the first and $12.50 for each subsequent EKG. The cardiologist gets $5 for reading them. Gulfport's charge to $15 for each and the cardiologist gets $5. Piquette charges $12 with $3 to the doctor.

Blackledge reported that paneling had been completed in the chapel and the drapes are up, leaving the sponsoring Women's Benevolent Assn. to arrange the furniture.

next Wednesday

The Army Corps of Engineers mailed notices last week of its intention to receive bids June 22 next Wednesday to repair damages to the seawall between Clermont Harbor and Bay St. Louis which were inflicted by Hurricane Betsy last September.

Work will include removing four sections of the seawall which were badly damaged and replacing them with steel sheet pile wall, placing a fill of dredged sand against the wall and connecting the corn dikes through the fill.

Summer is here

Beach damage or no, the summer crew has returned to full force and once again there's real traffic along the beach. Duggs and Howell Swoyer arrived to spend the weekend at their Hillcrest summer home. Howell passed on the news that daughter, Jane, not only received her degree from the University of Southern Mississippi, but is also now married and teaching at an Operation Handstart school in Beaumont, Tex.

Faye and Robert Vaughn have been coming over for week-end chow work in the yard of what was their Terrace Avenue home. They've been visiting June and Jim Thomas-Hill.

Glady and Harry O'Neill were spotted around Waveland, and Jan and Fred Lister almost never miss a weekend in their home on the bayou.

To all who cut cakes

Last week was quite large birthday week—your reporter and Doris (Mrs. Joe) Lottman cut cakes last Tuesday. Voda (Mrs. Jack) Kesselman, Mary Lou (Mrs. Clara) Kesselman and Mel Brown all celebrated the following day, and if we're not mistaken Johnny Seaford and Dutch Mendenhall each had a birthday on Friday.

Gill (Mrs. Carl) Bandiera, really had a happy birthday, also on Wednesday, June 8, as daughter, Carl and her husband, Gary, and children, Curt, Doug and baby Sharon (when Gill and Carl had never seen) returned home from Japan (Mrs. Seaford's) only to spend a three year tour of duty there. The day would have really been perfect had another daughter, Beverly, her husband, Bill Jones, and children, Cheryl and Bill, had been able to come as planned. . . but they were unable to leave their Florida home on schedule due to Alma's threat. The Jones live in Bradenton.

Get well wishes

Pharo (Mrs. Alden) Montgomery arrived home from Ochlocknee, where she had major surgery, in time to welcome Larry, his wife, Julie, and children on Saturday. The young Montgomerys flew in from their home in Macon, Ind. for a two week vacation.

Alma at home again is Glady (Mrs. Peary) Monroe who had been in Norfolk, Va. for the past year. She could, no doubt, welcome visitors from her many friends on the 11th anniversary of a fire which occurred in a fall at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Lottman, whom she was visiting when the tragedy occurred.

When casting special greetings to Mary (Mrs. Bill) Ogden, in a Crescent City hospital after treatment for a broken arm, far on injury incurred by the Ogden's new dog. The animal is an obviously friendly Weimaraner who came to the name of Hesperus. Mary was going down the stairs when the animal bounded up and greeted her with a bit too much enthusiasm. She is a fine dog, but she has a bad habit of jumping on people. Mary (Mrs. Hilda) Ogden, who recovered the tale, says it's the wildest incident she's heard about since Mary Moore heard her last on Ollie's trousers leg.

Calvin (Mrs. R.W.) Rizzo said he had a headache on his right hand. He had received surgery for tumor removal about three months ago and though feeling much better, he was still in pain. Rizzo's doctor also said he was getting better, having cut his finger so severely that 12 stitches were required to close the wound. . . he accomplished this feat while sharpening a shovel.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rasmussen are here from Reno, Georgia, visiting her parents' Col. and Mrs. Mervyn Giffin in their newly rented Beach Blvd. home.

Animal notes

Pat Kirk owner of the week end to witness a tiny Chihuahua from an unknown point in West Dixie last week 3:30 p.m. on Friday. The tiny animal, according to the name of Little Mac, had been given to six month old Lisa Lottman by her aunt, Gracie (Mrs. Edgar) Peterson, as the child suffers terribly from asthma. The little family to her brother more to please the animal had helped Lisa's condition. Little Mac is black and tan, with one white mark on his back, looking like someone spilled a single drop of paint upon him. We're placing with the thief, or anyone who has seen such a dog, to please either call Gracie at 467-4941, or bring it to the Echo office and no questions will be asked.

and a Future
Unlimited!

America's gas industry takes a quick look at its past... and strides into a future with unlimited potential. It was 150 years ago — on June 13, 1816 — when the first gas company in the nation was founded. Its purpose — to supply gas for street lighting in Baltimore.

Odd, isn't it, that romantic, nostalgic gas lights should be more popular today than in the peak of the "Gaslight Era!" Perhaps it's because gas plays such a vital role in energizing the homes and industries of our country. Gas heats more homes than any other fuel — 28 million and more. Gas is used for cooking by 43 million American families. Nine out of ten professional chefs cook with gas. Water heating? Some 29 million families rely on gas for instant hot water in unlimited supply. Then, too, there's gas for air-conditioning, gas for clothes drying, gas for a multitude of industrial processes.

Right now 125 million gas appliances operate in American homes. In only ten years there will be more than 200 million. Today we have some 765,000 miles of gas pipelines and mains. By 1975 over a million!

The gas industry's future is dramatic, dynamic, with gas being used in on-site generation of electric power, infra-red heating and the fuel cell, to name only a few. Gas truly has a future unlimited, and we're proud to be a part of an industry that grows younger and becomes more exciting as it matures.

Vacancies confront City Hall

Appointments to vacancies on two more municipal boards are under study by City Commission Council.

Howard Adams, member of the original city planning commission, resigned last month from the planning and zoning commission which he served as secretary. Commissioner J. Cynd Glover announced.

S. K. Kepner who served on the board of adjustment died early this month.

Announcement already had been made of the resignation of Mrs. Theo Tudy from the parks and playgrounds commission.

The city police force is also two men short since Robert Gaudin and Paul Egloff resigned. Glover said the city fathers are most grateful to the auxiliary police who have been maintaining the regular force in the interim.
